Pickett, superintendent of public instruction, who expressed some thoughts as to the objects of the association, and was followed by Prof. J. J. Rucker with suggestions as to how to increase interest in it. After an expression of views on these points by a number of members, the association listened to an address on Education, by Hon. A. S. Berry, of Newport. Papers were read during the second day on Compulsory education, by Prof. J. R. Day; on The extent of taxation for education, by Prof. W. H. Lockhart, and on Normal schools, by Prof. A. W. Mell. In the evening Maj. W. J. Davis, of Louisville, gave a lecture on The story of the rocks. The papers of the third day were on Curriculum of common schools, by Supt. A. T. Wiles, of Newport, and on Graded schools, by W. J. McConathy; the latter was not discussed for want of time. Among the resolutions adopted was one expressing the opinion that a meeting of the Southern Educational Association should be held during the Christmas holidays of 1880; also one appointing a committee to memorialize the legislature on the subject of establishing a State normal school.--(Eclectic Teacher, September, 1880.)
