

Writings of Leon Trotsky, 1939-1940

The life of Europe and all mankind will be determined for a long time by the course of the imperialist war and its economic and political consequences, wrote communist leader Leon Trotsky in May 1940. In face of this, he said, communist workers continue to fulfill our basic task: to carry on constant, tireless preparation for the revolution--in the factories, mills, villages, barracks, at the front, and in the fleet. Photos, chronology, notes, other writings of 1939 40, index. Now with enlarged type. This book is part of a series, The Writings of Leon Trotsky.
